AFFIDAVIT OF DENIS BEAUDOIN

- I, Denis Beaudoin, of the city of Ottawa, in the Province of Ontario, swear that:
- I am a superintendent for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP). My current position is Director of Financial Crime, Federal Policing Criminal Operations. I have served in this position since 2021. My responsibilities in this role include overseeing financial crime operations for the RCMP nationally.
- In this capacity, I was responsible for overseeing the use of the economic measures put in place under the Emergencies Act proclamation. I developed the process used by the RCMP for verifying and sharing information with financial institutions as described below. As such, I have personal knowledge of the information in my affidavit.

Economic Order and Regulations

- 3. On February 15, 2022, the Governor General in Council enacted the Emergency Economic Measures Order found at P.C. 2022-108 of the CTR (the Order), as well as the Emergencies Measures Regulations found at P.C. 2022-107 of the CTR (the Regulations), pursuant to its proclamation the previous day that a public order emergency existed.
- 4. On February 23, 2022, the Order and Regulations were revoked and ceased to apply.
- 5. The Order and Regulations did not apply retroactively and applied only to individuals who acted in contravention of sections 2 to 5 of the Regulations between February 15 and 23, 2022.

Objective and Scope of the Order and Regulations

- 6. The RCMP's primary role with respect to implementing the measures was to provide financial service providers with information gathered by police about people and companies potentially involved in illegal activities, which the financial service providers could use to ensure their compliance with the Order.
- 7. The Order gave financial institutions the ability to freeze financial products of individuals and companies involved in prohibited activities and gave law enforcement authority to share information with financial institutions with the ultimate goal to end illegal acts peacefully.

Implementation of the Order

8. Neither the Order nor Regulations specified a procedure through which financial service providers would identify individuals or entities that met the definition of "designated person" under the Order.

- 9. In practice, the police provided financial service providers with information about particular individuals or entities, which the financial service providers could use in conjunction with other information at their disposal to make their own determinations about whether they needed to take steps to comply with the Order.
- 10. Once the Order came into effect, the RCMP worked closely with municipal and provincial policing partners, including the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) and Ottawa Police Service (OPS), to collect relevant information regarding persons, vehicles and entities that were believed to be directly or indirectly involved in prohibited activities.
- 11. The RCMP served as the conduit for sharing all information between police and financial service providers. The OPP and OPS provided the RCMP with relevant information in their possession and the RCMP validated this information and then shared it with financial service providers. I attach as Exhibit "A" a copy of a blank template that the RCMP used to provide the information it described, if available, to financial institutions.
- 12. During the eight days that the Order was in place from February 15 to 23, 2022, the RCMP disclosed information to banks, the Canadian Bankers Association, the Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada, the Canadian Securities Administrators, credit unions, and the Mutual Fund Dealers Association of Canada.
- 13. The RCMP shared two main types of information with financial service providers: information obtained from the OPP and OPS regarding individuals already identified as part of their criminal investigations into the illegal protests and blockades; and information regarding trucks and other vehicles located in downtown Ottawa.
- 14. Initially, the RCMP shared with financial service providers the identities of 15 entities that the OPP and OPS had identified as suspects of their criminal investigation. Financial service providers used this information to determine whether to take action in order to comply with their obligations under the Order.
- 15. With respect to the second type of information, the OPP collected licence plate information and other identifying information of vehicles blockading downtown Ottawa. The RCMP then collected information from police and public sources to corroborate the presence of individuals and vehicles in the illegal protest. This information was then shared with financial service providers so that they could decide whether to take action in order to comply with the Order.
- 16. The RCMP and other law enforcement agencies focused their efforts on identifying and disclosing information pertaining to individuals and entities who were actively involved in illegal action, either by organizing or influencing the illegal activities or by being present at the illegal protest.

- 17. The RCMP did not disclose information pertaining to those who made donations in support of the protests or who purchased merchandise supporting the protests as it would have had no immediate impact to end the protest peacefully.
- 18. The RCMP communicated information to financial institutions but did not advise on the methods financial institutions should use to ensure compliance with the Order.
- 19. In a number of instances, the RCMP decided to not disclose information to the financial service providers following the investigative phase. The reasons for not disclosing were that there was not enough information to believe the person or entity was involved, the plate was invalid in the police database system, the person was attempting to leave but was unable, or it was no longer believed the person or entity was involved (either left on their own accord or were removed by police).
- 20. In total, the RCMP disclosed information on approximately 57 entities and individuals to financial service providers and approximately 257 accounts were frozen by financial institutions pursuant to the Order. Some individuals or entities had multiple accounts or services frozen.
- 21. Additionally, the RCMP identified and disclosed 170 Bitcoin wallet addresses to virtual currency financial service providers via a series of cryptocurrency alerts. These accounts received funds linked to the HonkHonkHodl crowdfunding campaign, which raised 20.7 Bitcoin with a value of between $1 million to $1.2 million during the period during which the Order was in force. No personal information was included in those alerts and this information was available publicly. I attach the three cryptocurrency alerts provided by the RCMP to financial service providers as Exhibit "B".
- 22. The alerts noted that these e-wallets were linked to a joint RCMP and OPP/OPS investigation and directed the providers to cease facilitating transactions involving these e-wallets and to disclose relevant transaction information to the RCMP.
- 23. The RCMP clearly communicated to these electronic financial service providers that the Order was not to be applied retroactively and could only be applied while the Order was in effect.
- 24. Although the RCMP did not give information to financial institutions to enable them to freeze accounts of persons who had donated for use in the convoys and illegal blockades, some information was publicly available about donations that had been made to "GiveSendGo" for use in the illegal blockades.

Efforts to Minimize Negative Impact

- 25. The RCMP attempted to contact many of the individuals or entities whose information was to be disclosed to financial service providers, in order to reconfirm their ongoing participation in prohibited activities. For example, a number of individuals contacted by the RCMP confirmed that they were participating in the blockade in Ottawa and that they refused to leave. At that point, the RCMP advised the individuals of the Order and the risk that their bank accounts could be frozen.
- 26. Some people indicated when contacted that they wanted to leave, but were not in a position to do so because the streets were not cleared. These people were instructed to be ready and to make sure their truck was ready to leave when the streets were cleared. The information on these persons was not provided to the financial service providers.
- 27. The persons identified by the OPS and the OPP as suspects in their criminal investigation were not contacted prior to their information being shared.
- 28. After the illegal blockade was cleared, the RCMP reached out to some people to ascertain if it was their intention to return. Some indicated that they were not going back because they did not want their accounts frozen.
- 29. The Order imposed on financial service providers a duty to determine on a continuous basis if they were in possession of property owned, held or controlled by or on behalf of a designated person. Individuals who had their account frozen would have to contact their financial service provider to make arrangements to unfreeze their account. They could do this as soon as they stopped participating in the activities targeted by the Order. The RCMP facilitated this process by remaining in communication with financial service providers to assist them in assessing the involvement of their clients in the illegal activities.
- 30. On February 21, 2022, the RCMP communicated with the financial service providers and advised them that, without taking into account independent information available to financial entities, the RCMP no longer believes the individuals or entities disclosed were engaged in conduct or activities prohibited under the EMR, and therefore no longer met the criteria of a designated person under the Order. Attached as Exhibit "C" is an email with the subject line "Emergency Economic Measures Order (EEMO) SITUATIONAL UPDATE."
- 31. Attached as Exhibit "D" is a copy of the RCMP statement about the unfreezing of accounts released by the RCMP on February 23, 2022.
- 32. The RCMP did not share information with insurance providers because the goal remained to facilitate a peaceful end to the blockade by allowing fully insured drivers to remove their vehicles from downtown Ottawa of their own volition.

33. As far as I am aware, all accounts that were frozen under the Order are now unfrozen.

Utility of the Order

- 34. The powers granted under the Order allowed the RCMP and other law enforcement agencies to work closely with Canadian financial institutions to implement asset freezes that strongly encouraged individuals to leave the illegal protests and deter the counselling of others to engage in prohibited activities. It also deterred protesters from staying in the area and coming back.
- 35. I believe the additional powers allowed by the Order played a role to resolve effectively an unprecedented, urgent, and rapidly evolving situation. The information the RCMP provided to financial service providers helped incentivize many involved in the blockade of downtown Ottawa to leave peacefully and minimized the risk of a violent end to the blockades by depriving those engaged in prohibited activities of access to funds.

Applicants Edward Cornell and Vincent Gircys

- 36. The RCMP disclosed the names of the Applicants, Edward Cornell and Vincent Gircys to financial institutions due to their overt participation in prohibited activities in Ottawa.
- 37. Both Mr. Cornell and Mr. Gircys participated in a press conference on February 16, 2022 at which they urged people to come to Ottawa to participate in prohibited activities. The press conference is posted on Instagram at Kristen Nagle on Instagram: "Press conference with Daniel Bulford, Vincent Gircys, Eddie Cornell."
- 38. I make this affidavit in response to the applications for judicial review in court file numbers T-306-22, T-347-22, T-316-22, and T-382-22 and for no other or improper purpose.

SITUATIONAL UPDATE

Good day,

Following the publishing of the Emergency Economics Measures Act (EEMO), the RCMP and its policing partners have provided you information regarding specific individuals and entities in an effort to contribute to the application of the EEMO by assisting to identify property belonging to people who were engaged in the illegal activities set out in the Emergency Measures Regulations (EMR). Following these disclosures, financial assets were frozen.

Not taking into account independent information available to financial entities, the RCMP no longer believes the above-mentioned individuals or entities are engaged in conduct or activities prohibited under the EMR, and therefore no longer meet the criteria of a designated person under the Order.

As the law is still currently in effect, listed entities must determine on a continuing basis whether they are in possession or control of property that is owned, held or controlled by, or on behalf of, a designated person.

Should information about designated persons becomes available, the RCMP may decide to disclose further information to financial entities to contribute to the application of the EEMO.

Thank you, Kelley

Kelley Hughes (Cpl.)

Subject: Emergency Economic Measures Order (EEMO) - SITUATIONAL UPDATE

Good afternoon,

We would like to reassure you that it remains our priority to communicate information that may assist listed entities with their assessment to unfreeze financial products related to the disclosures of designated person information.

Although we are not currently in a position to do that yet, we anticipate being able to provide you with relevant information later this afternoon.

Thank you for your continued patience and understanding as we work through this complex time together.

Kelley

STATEMENT Enforcement under the Emergencies Act – Unfreezing of accounts

The Emergencies Act has allowed law enforcement and monitoring agencies to work more closely with Canadian financial institutions; which has enhanced the effectiveness of law enforcement's investigations pertaining to the illegal convoy protests.

The RCMP and its policing partners used the Emergency Economic Measures Order to strongly encourage individuals to leave the illegal protests and deter them from counselling others to commit criminal offences.

The RCMP provided relevant information to financial institutions, who have the onus to determine which financial products should be frozen, pertaining to entities (i.e. individuals or companies) believed to be involved in illegal acts. As previously stated, at no time did the RCMP disclose information on donors or on those who purchased merchandise.

As of February 21, 2022, the RCMP has gone back to financial institutions with some updated information about certain entities whose status may have changed pertaining to the illegal protest activity. This new information can be assessed alongside all other information to help inform decisions to unfreeze certain accounts.

DÉCLARATION Application de la loi en vertu de la *Loi sur les*mesures d'urgence – Dégel de comptes

La Loi sur les mesures d'urgence a permis aux organismes d'application de la loi et de surveillance de collaborer plus étroitement avec les institutions financières canadiennes et d'ainsi accroître l'efficacité des enquêtes policières sur les manifestations illégales entourant le convoi de la liberté.

La GRC et ses partenaires policiers ont eu recours au Décret sur les mesures économiques d'urgence pour encourager fortement des individus à quitter les lieux des manifestations illégales et les dissuader de conseiller à d'autres personnes de commettre des infractions criminelles.

La GRC a fourni aux institutions financières, qui ont la responsabilité de déterminer quels produits financiers doivent être gelés, des renseignements pertinents au sujet d'entités (individus ou entreprises) que l'on croit participer à des actes illégaux. Comme il a été déclaré précédemment, la GRC n'a à aucun moment divulgué de renseignements sur des donateurs ou des personnes qui ont acheté des marchandises.

En date du 21 février 2022, la GRC a transmis des renseignements actualisés aux institutions financières sur certaines entités dont la situation peut avoir changé relativement aux manifestations illégales. Ces nouveaux renseignements peuvent être évalués au même titre que toutes les autres informations disponibles afin d'éclairer les décisions relatives au dégel de certains comptes.
