

Walk For Freedom 2023

Route Map

The Walk for Freedom will begin at the corner of Grace Street and Alan Borovoy Lane (just north of College Street). We will head north on Grace Street before turning right on Harbord Street. We will continue on Harbord Street until we reach Queen's Park, which we will pass through diagonally to the east side before finishing our walk and holding our rally at the south side of the Ontario Legislative Building. The entire walk is around 3km and should take approximately 45 minutes.

Thank you for joining CCLA's Walk for Freedom!

A. Alan Borovoy

Alan Borovoy was General Counsel of the Canadian Civil Liberties Association from May 1968 until June 2009. In this role, Alan presented to public inquiries and testified before parliamentary committees on issues such as mandatory drug testing in the workplace, wiretapping, and police race relations. He participated in delegations to the federal and provincial governments on issues of capital punishment, religious education in public schools, the War Measures Act, campus speech codes, and national security and intelligence.

Alan's frequent media appearances on behalf of CCLA made him a familiar face to many people in Canada. He authored several books, including The New Anti-Liberals, Uncivil Obedience: The Tactics and Tales of a Democratic Agitator and When Freedoms Collide: The Case for Our Civil Liberties, which was nominated for the Governor General's Award in 1988. His memoir, At the Barricades, was published in 2013.

Alan received his B.A. from the University of Toronto in 1953, his LL.B. from the University of Toronto in 1956, and was admitted to the Ontario Bar in 1958. He was made an Officer of the Order of Canada in 1982. Alan Borovoy was actively involved in CCLA until his passing in May 2015.

CCLA was fortunate to benefit from Alan Borovoy's extraordinary dedication to rights and liberties and his inspiring leadership for several decades.

About CCLA

Our vision is of a country where every person will have their rights and freedoms fully respected and protected. We defend The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms to ensure our constitutionally guaranteed rights and freedoms are upheld.

We create more justice by challenging unfair laws and the unfair or discriminatory application of laws against individuals and communities. In order to remain an independent and effective watchdog for rights and freedoms, CCLA does not accept government funding and our work is funded by those who care deeply about safeguarding rights and freedoms for all people in Canada. Our work is only possible because of the support of concerned and caring people like you.
